

Vi-likhita, as, ā, am, scratched, scraped, scarified.
Vi-likhya, ind. having scratched, having written, &c.
Vi-lekhana, am, n. making an incision or mark or furrow; dividing, splitting; digging, delving, rooting up.

Vi-lekhin, i, inī, i, scratching, scraping, touching, reaching.

विलिप vi-lip, cl. 6. P. A. -līpati, -te, -leptum, to smear over, besmear, plaster, spread over, anoint; to smear or spread on; to pollute: Pass.
 -līpyate, to be anointed, be smeared over.

Vi-līpta, as, ā, am, smeared over, besmeared, anointed, plastered, smeared.

Vi-līpita, as, ā, am (said to be fr. the Caus.), smeared over, besmeared.

Vi-lepa, as, m. ointment, unguent, (especially the fragrant unguent of sandal, agallochum, &c.); anointing, plastering; mortar, plaster; (ṛ), f. rice-gruel.

Vi-lepana, am, n. the act of smearing, anointing, plastering over, smearing or anointing the body (with fragrant oils, &c.); perfume for the person (as unguent or oil of sandal, saffron, camphor, bdellium, &c.); ointment of any kind; (ṛ), f. a woman scented with perfumes, &c.; rice-gruel.

Vilepanin, i, inī, i, possessing unguents or perfumes, (a-vilepanin, deprived of ointments.)

Vi-lepikā, f. rice-gruel.

Vi-lepin, i, inī, i, smearing or plastering over,
 one who anoints, &c.

Vi-lepya, as, ā, am, to be spread over or plastered;
 (as), m. rice-gruel.

विलिश vi-lis = vi-ris, q. v.

Vi-liṣṭa = vi-riṣṭa.

विलिखेन्द्रा vilikṣeṅḍrā, f., N. of a Dānavī
 (of whom Indra was enamoured).

विलिह vi-lih, cl. 2. P. A. -leḍhi, -liḍhe, -leḍhum, to lick, lick up, lap.

Vi-lihat, at, atī, at (Intens. pres. part.; in Mahā-bh. Sānti-p. 8075. vi-lelihan, nom. case masc.), licking continually.

Vi-lelḥāna, as, ā, am, continually or repeatedly licking.

विली vi-lī, cl. 4. A. -liyate, -lātum or -le- tum, to cling to, lie close to, stick to, cleave to, be united or addicted or attached to; to settle on, alight or perch on; to become disunited or dissolved, become liquid, melt away; to become dissipated or dispersed, become ineffectual; to fall to pieces, be destroyed, perish, vanish, disappear, become hidden; cl. 1. P. -layati, to make liquid or fluid, melt; Caus. -linayati, -lāpayati, -lālayati, -lāyayati, (according to some grammarians this last is the form to be used when not speaking of liquefying butter or similar substances, see Pān. VII. 3, 39), -iyatum, to cause to become disunited or dissolved, cause to be dissolved in (with loc.); to make liquid, dissolve, melt; to cause to vanish or disappear, destroy.

Vi-laya, as, m. dissolution, liquefaction, death, destruction, destruction of the world, (vilayam gam, to be dissolved, to end.)

Vi-layana, am, n. the act of dissolving, liquefying, dissolution, liquefaction, destroying; corroding, eating away; removing, taking away; attenuating;
 an attenuant, escharotic (in medicine).

Vi-lāpita, as, ā, am (fr. the Caus.), caused to be dissolved, being liquefied.

Vi-lāpyanāna, as, ā, am, being caused to be dissolved, being liquefied.

Vi-līya, ind. = vi-liya, Pān. VI. 1, 51.

Vi-lāyam, ind. becoming dissolved, melting away, becoming dispersed, (abhru-vilāyam, in the manner of the dissolving of a cloud, Kirāt. XI. 79.)

Vi-lāyita, as, ā, am (fr. the Caus.), made liquid, dissolved, melted.

Vi-līna, as, ā, am, clinging to, sticking or cleaving to, attached to, addicted to, immersed in; settled on, alighting on [cf. sākhā-e]; contiguous to, in contact with, united or blended with; infused into the mind, imagined; dissolved, liquid, liquefied, melted, semifluid (as melted oil or butter, &c.);

 disappeared, perished, vanished. — Vi-līna-shutpada, as, ā, am, having bees clinging or attached.

Vi-līya, ind. having settled down, having become dissolved, having disappeared.

Vi-liyat, an, anti, at, dinging to, settling; becoming dissolved, liquefying.

Vi-liyamāna, as, ā, am, being dissolved or melted, &c., disappearing, being hidden.

विलुञ्च vi-luñc, cl. 1. P. -luñcati, -luñcītum, to tear off, tear out, pluck off, tear to pieces.

Vi-luñcana, am, n. the act of tearing off.

विलुह vi-luḥ, cl. 6. P. -luḥati, -luḥitum, to roll, roll or move about, move to and fro, quiver, flicker; to agitate, move, stir, rouse, excite.

Vi-luḥat, an, atī or anti, at, rolling, moving to and fro, sparkling.

Vi-luḥita, as, ā, am, agitated, excited.

विलुड vi-luḍ (closely connected with vi- lul), Caus. -loḍayati, &c., to agitate, stir about, stir up, rouse, move to and fro, toss about; to turo over, upset; to disarrange, disturb, disorder, confuse, throw into disorder or confusion.

Vi-loḍana, am, n. the act of agitating, shaking, stirring, churning, rolling, tossing.

Vi-loḍayitrī, tā, m. an agitator, disturber.

Vi-loḍita, as, ā, am, agitated, shaken, churned;
 rolling or tumbling on the ground; (am), n. buttermilk (= takra).

Vi-loḍyamāna, as, ā, am, being agitated, being stirred about or up, being tossed about; being thrown into disorder, being disarranged.

विलुण्ठ vi-luṅṭha, ind. having taken away, having taken off the husk, (in Pañca-tantra,
 p. 121, 13, a better reading has luñcītvā.)

विलुण्ठ vi-luṅṭh, cl. 1. P. -luṅṭhati, -luṅ- ṭhitum, to carry off, rob, plunder, steal: Pass.
 -luṅṭhyate, to be plundered or ravaged.

Vi-luṅṭhana, am, n. the act of plundering, robbing.

Vi-luṅṭhita, as, ā, am, robbed, plundered, pil-laged; rolled or rolling about (= vi-luḥita).

विलुप vi-lup, cl. 6. P. A. -lumpati, -te, -loptum, to tear or break off, cut off; to tear or break to pieces, pull out or up; to tear or carry away, carry off, ravish, seize, plunder, rob, pillage; to destroy, confound, ruin; to fall to pieces, be ruined (A.): Pass. -luppyate, to be torn away or carried off, be plundered, be destroyed, perish, be lost, disappear, fail: Caus. -lopyati, -iyum, to tear or carry away, withhold, keep back; to cause to disappear, destroy, ruin, oppress, extinguish.

Vi-lupta, as, ā, am, torn off or away, broken off, broken; carried off or away, snatched away, seized, taken, plundered, robbed; destroyed, ruined, lost; impaired, mutilated.

Vi-lumpaka, as, ikā, am, one who breaks or cuts off; one who seizes or robs; a robber, ravisher.

Vi-lumpat, an, atī or anti, at, tearing or plucking off, tearing, &c.

Vi-lopa, as, m. carrying off, seizing, taking away;
 a break or interruption in the Samhitā (according to the Prātiśākyas).

Vi-lopana, am, a. the act of tearing or breaking to pieces, cutting off, destroying, destruction.

Vi-lopita, as, ā, am, torn away, broken, ruined, destroyed, oppressed, extinguished, put out.

विलुभ vi-lubh, cl. 4. P. -lubhyati, -lobhi- tum or -lobdhum, to become disordered or disarranged, fall into disorder or confusion: Caus. -lobha- yati, -iyum, to lead astray, perplex, confuse; to allure, entice, tempt; to divert, amuse, delight.

Vi-lubhita, as, ā, am, disordered, disarranged, disturbed, agitated, bewildered; tossed or shaken about. — Vi-lubhita-plava, as, ā, am, going in an agitated manner.

Vi-lobha, as, m. attraction, delusion, seduction.

Vi-lobhana, am, n. the act of leading astray, perplexing, beguiling; allurements, attraction, temptation, seduction; flattering, praise, commendation (especially by contrast with inferiority).

Vi-lobhayat, an, anti, at, alluring, enticing;
 diverting, amusing, delighting.

Vi-lobhita, as, ā, am, allured, beguiled; deceived;
 flattered, praised.

Vi-lobhya, ind. having enticed or beguiled, having fascinated, &c.

Vi-lobhyamāna, as, ā, am, being allured or enticed, being fascinated, being overcome.

विलुल vi-lul (closely connected with vi- lud), cl. 1. P. -lolati, &c., to move or roll about; to become disarranged or confused: Caus. -lolayati,
 -iyum, to cause to move or roll about, agitate, disturb.

Vi-lulita, as, ā, am, moved hither and thither;
 shaken down, falling down, rolling down; shaken, shaking about, agitated, waving, tremulous, unsteady, fickle; disordered, disarranged. — Vilulitāḥa (ta- uḥ), as, ā, am, having disordered or dishevelled locks.

Vi-lola, as, ā, am, moving or shaking about;
 shaking, trembling, tremulous, fickle, unsteady, loose;
 rolling (as the eye), rolling or tossing about, waving.
 — Vilola-tā, f. or vilola-tva, am, n. tremulousness, unsteadiness; rolling (of the eyes). — Vilola-hāra, as, ā, am, having necklaces tossing about.

Vi-lolana, am, n. the act of shaking; stirring, agitating.

Vi-lolita, as, ā, am, moved hither and thither, shaken about, agitated, tossed about. — Vilolita-dris, k, k, k, rolling the eyes, having tremulous eyes.

विलून vi-lūna, as, ā or ī, am, cut asunder, cut off, cut, (Pān. IV. 1, 52, Vārt. 3.)

विलोक vi-lok, cl. 1. A. -lokate, -lokītum, to look at or upon, regard; to examine, test, study;
 cl. 10. P. or Caus. -lokayati, -iyum, to look at, look on or upon, look towards, behold, regard, observe, consider, examine; to perceive, see, discover, be aware of; to look over or beyond (with acc.):
 Pass. -lokyate, to be seen, be visible.

Vi-lokana, am, n. the act of looking or regarding, discerning, seeing, spying; sight, observation.

Vi-lokanīya, as, ā, am, to be looked at; worthy of being looked at, agreeable, beautiful. — Vilokaniya- tā, f. or vilokaniya-tva, am, n. a state worthy of being looked at, loveliness, beauty.

Vi-lokayat, an, anti, at, looking at, seeing; discerning.

Vi-lokita, as, ā, am, looked at, beheld, seen, observed, regarded, examined, contemplated; (am),
 n. a look, glance.

Vi-lokya, ind. having looked at, having seen or observed, having perceived or noticed or witnessed; having regard to, paying attention to.

विलोक vi-loka, as, ā, am, apart from the world, solitary, lonely.

विलोचन vi-locana, am, n. the eye, sight.
 — Vilocana-pāta, as, m. a cast or glance of the eye, a glance, look. — Vilocanāmbu (na-am), u, n. 'eye-water', tears.

विलोटक vi-loṭaka, as, m. (fr. rt. luṭ with vi), a sort of fish, Clupea Cultrata (= nala-mina).

विलोडन vi-loḍana, &c. See under vi-luḍ, col. 2.

विलोप vi-lopa, &c. See under vi-lup.

विलोभ vi-lobha, &c. See under vi-lubh.

विलोन vi-loma, as, ī, am, against the hair, against the grain, out of the usual or proper course, reverse, inverted, ioverse, turned the wrong way, turned backward, contrary, opposite; produced in the reverse order [cf. viloma-ja]; (as), m. reverse